REGATHERING:

- 17:13:47 From Walt Lederhaus - St, John's, Petaluma : I saw something about reopening May 31st. IS that true. It seems a reaction to the recent legal order of the courts.
- 17:13:48 From Andrea McMillin : We want to acknowledge that we understand the anxiety around regathering. Please know that it is OK to feel anxious. It is OK to move slowly. Your church along with its leaders will decide when you are ready to regather. If people are asking for a regathering date and your church is not quite there, you can offer provide them a general “earliest possible date” without being too specific. Remember, these conversations are much easier to navigate with teams.
- 17:16:25 Bishop Megan : It may be helpful to start off slow, maybe with a bible study on the lawn, or Morning Prayer, an online coffee hour.
- 17:16:38 From Laurie Moulton : Too soon. Thank you. Working in healthcare, unfortunately, we are still seeing a rise in positive cases right now.

SELF-CARE: What are you doing this weekend?

- 17:25:57 From John Miller : Yardwork and home repair.
- 17:26:04 From Delia Fay : Play scrabble with family
- 17:26:05 From Anne Pierson : Relaxing at home, perhaps a wakeboarding in nature.
- 17:26:08 From Peggy Larson : Husband just bought a corn hole kit, so, we will need to crown a champion!
- 17:26:12 From Jay Elmquist : Rest and play games
- 17:26:16 From Jo Michael : Eating vegan burgers on our patio. Like Americans!
- 17:26:27 From Diana Siers : Watching war movies
- 17:26:36 From Grant Bakewell : Participating in a memorial service for a dear, dear friend who married Gail and I, online/zoom with his family.
- 17:26:38 From Betsy Bruneau : Sit in the front yard and watch birds in the meadow
- 17:26:42 From Laurie Moulton : My dad was a victim of Vietnam, so each year, I get a helium-filled balloon, write a note to him, say a prayer, and set it free.
- 17:26:50 From Walt Lederhaus – St. John's, Petaluma : Teaching a cooking class via Zoom & air B & B
- 17:26:51 From Kathleen Moran : Maybe head up to Paradise to see my sister and their family. They finally moved into their new home after living in a trailer for 18 months, and I have household goods for them.
- 17:26:53 From Kati Braak : Float and nap in my pool
- 17:26:58 From Roderick McAulay: Leg of lamb
- 17:26:58 From Barbara Elizabeth Nixon : Gardening
- 17:27:07 From Royal McCarthy : Barbeque & Movies
- 17:27:09 From Sam Armer / Saint Nicholas Paradise / Century 21 Realty : Picnic Saturday and gardening at the Parish on Sunday
- 17:27:55 From Walt Lederhaus - St, John's, Petaluma : The class is Making Ricotta Cheese.
- 17:29:20 From Jay Elmquist : Memorial Service at which the Presiding Bishop is preaching:
