In accepting the nomination, you need to know the following:

- There is a limited amount of money available for reimbursement, which includes airfare, lodging, meals and Convention registration. Any expenses that exceed the designated diocesan reimbursement are absorbed by the deputy or provided through alternative sources, such as your congregation.
- First Alternates in both orders, clergy and lay, are expected to be on the floor for a majority of the sessions, either seated with the Deputies or in the Alternates' Gallery.
- Deputies and First Alternates in both orders, clergy and lay, share Convention floor time. Each deputy is expected to relinquish his/her chair to the Alternate so that the Alternate shall serve on the floor during at least one-half of the Convention sessions.
